

Union City Administrative Effectiveness Framework

(Modeled after Danielson, tailored for non-instructional administrators)

Framework Overview

This framework mirrors Danielson's four-domain structure (Planning/Preparation, Classroom Environment, Instruction, Professionalism) but is adapted for non-instructional administrators such as the Maintenance Supervisor, Bus/Transportation Supervisor, Athletic Director, and Food Service Director.

Domains:

1. Leadership & Vision – Strategic planning, alignment to mission, resource management.
2. Operations & Management – Safety, efficiency, compliance, crisis response.
3. Collaboration & Communication – Stakeholder engagement, team leadership, conflict resolution.
4. Professionalism & Growth – Ethical practice, continuous learning, contribution to district culture.

Each domain includes four levels of performance:

- Unsatisfactory
- Basic
- Proficient
- Distinguished

Maintenance Supervisor

Domain 1: Leadership & Vision

- Unsatisfactory: Lacks a facilities plan; responds only when problems arise.
- Basic: Maintains a basic schedule of repairs and communicates some goals.
- Proficient: Develops and follows a preventative maintenance plan aligned to district goals.
- Distinguished: Anticipates future facility needs, secures resources, and models innovation in maintenance practices.

Domain 2: Operations & Management

- Unsatisfactory: Safety violations or frequent breakdowns occur.
- Basic: Addresses issues as they arise, but preventive planning is limited.
- Proficient: Consistently maintains safe, efficient facilities with compliance to codes.
- Distinguished: Creates systems to maximize efficiency, sustainability, and safety across all facilities.
